April: Spring Clean Your Pantry

Main Message: Cleaning Out Your Kitchen Cabinets is a Great Way to Kickoff Spring

It's easy to forget what's behind closed doors—even when the doors are in your kitchen! Give your kitchen a breath of fresh air this Spring and take time to organize your pantry and cabinets: you'll know what you have, and can prepare for emergencies like power outages. I'm [NAME, TITLE, STORE] with some easy steps for "spring" cleaning your pantry:

- Step 1: Sort. Pick a shelf, any shelf, and go through the contents quickly.
- Step 2: Throw out any out of date items or items you know you won't consume.
- Step 3: Donate any food items that are within date but you won't use to the local food pantry.
- Step 4: Organize the items that are left. Since there will be lots of extra shelf space now you will easily see what you have and what you may need to replace. For example, you might want to make sure you are prepared with enough canned and dry goods to make it through an extended power outage.

Now, every time you open your cabinet doors, you'll feel a sense of pride in how nice they look and knowing that you are ready for any of life's little emergencies.
